Fiscal Analysis

- ASSUMPTIONS:
1. The fixed proportions in the distribution of state special education monies to schools, proposed in HB 160, reflect the approximate allocations under current law.
 2. While there will be shifts in the special education allocations among districts, these shifts are not projected to affect the overall cost of K-12 BASE aid to schools.

EFFECT ON COUNTY OR OTHER LOCAL REVENUES OR EXPENDITURES:

Total statewide general fund revenues to local districts and special education cooperatives would remain unchanged. The distribution of particular amounts to individual schools would vary from current law. By design, this variability is generally less than 3% when applying the new law to funds distributed in FY 2001 under current law.
